Selecting Trump

After clicking "Deal" the play area will look like this.

Now you can see your cards and decide if you want the suit of the top card of the kitty (highlighted in red) to be trump.

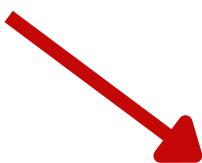

Pass

Click "Pass" if you do not want this suit as trump. The next player will now have the option to pass or order it up.

Order it up

Click "Order it up" if you do want this suit to be trump. The dealer then takes the card and discards something from their hand.

The trump suit will now be displayed on the board here in the bottom left corner.

USER GUIDE

Playing

Now follow the prompts for when it is your turn to play a card. When it is your turn you may click a card in your hand to play it. Remember to follow the Euchre rules and follow the lead suit!

The card played will show in the center of the playing area and the "Lead Suit" field updates to display the lead suit for all players. Each AI player will now play a card and the highest value card played will win the "trick". Please see the rules for further explanation. The scoreboard will update as tricks are played and won.

The prompts on screen will tell you which player will start the next round and when it is your turn to play a card.

After all five tricks are played the game will determine which team won the round and update the overall score.

The game will then re-deal the cards and the trump selection will start once again. Play continues in rounds of 5 tricks until a team reaches 10 points.
